

III. REMARKS

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hunzinger in view of Teller.

The present invention deals with a system where context based decision is made in a mobile terminal. The decision can be based on several decision-making criteria.

As previously discussed, the system of Hunzinger makes decisions based only on geographical location. The Examiner tries to overcome this shortcoming by introducing the system of Teller. However, as clearly disclosed in Teller, for example, in column 2, lines 3-4, lines 21-30, lines 56-58, and in column 3, lines 56-63, the system of Teller has a separate central processing apparatus, which takes care of all information processing. One example of its capabilities is depicted in column 2, lines 21-30, where it is disclosed that web pages, mail or facsimile are alternatives, which are utilized when informing the user of the system. That is why the system of Teller is not combinable at all because of its massive hardware structure destroys the portability of the small movable terminal of Hunzinger.

Also, Hunzinger does not present any hint that there could be a reason (a problem) why to use any other decision-making criterion than geographical location. For this additional reason the references are not combinable.

Claims 10 and 11 recite that the non-location information comprises current physical activity of the user, current activity of the user, and information describing the current test activity of the user. Since all of these alternates are not in either reference, combining them does not result in the invention of claims 10 and 11.

For all of the foregoing reasons, it is respectfully submitted that all of the claims now present in the application are clearly novel and patentable over the prior art of record, and are in proper form for allowance. Accordingly, favorable reconsideration and allowance is respectfully requested. Should any unresolved issues remain, the Examiner is invited to call Applicants' attorney at the telephone number indicated below.

The Commissioner is hereby authorized to charge payment for any fees associated with this communication or credit any over payment to Deposit Account No. 16-1350.

Respectfully submitted,
